The Vermont Smart Growth Scorecard was published in October 2000 by the Vermont Forum on Sprawl as part of their mission to help communities plan for growth. The original publication was developed with consultant Karen Yacos and funded by grants from the Orton Family Foundation and the John Merck Fund. In July 2011, Smart Growth Vermont, the successor to the Vermont Forum on Sprawl, merged with the Vermont Natural Resources Council. This publication builds on the work of the original Scorecard and on a decade of Smart Growth in Vermont. It has been expanded to help communities address some of the unique challenges of the 21st century, including climate change and lack of physical activity due to sprawl, by including sections on energy and healthy community design.

Updates to the 2000 Scorecard were authored primarily by Kate McCarthy and Johanna Miller of VNRC with invaluable assistance from Jake Claro, AmeriCorps member and Sarika Tandon, Graduate Climate Change Adaptation Intern. Layout and design was by James Sharp of VNRC with assistance from Richard Amore, Department of Housing and Community Development.
